The Portland Library Association.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT.

To the Members of the Portland Library Association—On behalf of the Board of Trustees, and in compliance with the requirements of the Constitution, I have the honor to present to you for your consideration, the Fifth Annual Report upon the general doings and condition of the Association, together with some suggestions as to the best means of promoting its future growth and prosperity.

When I call this the Fifth Annual Report, I must be understood only, as meaning the Annual report of the fifth year of the existence of the Association, for as a matter of fact there has been but one Annual report made by the Presidents of the Association, and that was made by President W. S. Ladd, for the year 1864, on March 1, 1865.

From that report (not now to be found only on the files of the Association, but published in the daily OREGONIAN of March 6, 1865), I learn that at the close of the year 1864, the Association was in debt for current expenses in the sum of $684 25. Between then and the making of the President's report by a special effort of some members of the board, the debt was reduced by initiations and dues, and a donation of $100, to the sum of $15 25.

At the date of this report, and by reason of the special efforts just alluded to, the membership was increased to 169. But many of these members were only considered such under the old rule, because they had not specially resigned. In the report of the present Librarian for the year 1867, many of these so-called members are spoken of as persons who give their names to the Association but not the money. Under the present system no one is considered a member of the Association except for the time he has paid his dues in advance The cash system is the only system upon which our institution can be successfully conducted.

From Mr. Ladd's Report for 1864, it also appears that the Library then contained 500 volumes and that 600 more were shortly expected to arrive from the East. These books (with some others and papers and periodicals) were purchased with the money given to the Association upon its original organization, at the beginning of 1864

The Librarian's report for the year 1867, is the first one made by that officer Up to the beginning of the same year, so far as I have been able to ascertain, the accounts of the Association were never examined by any committee. As I am informed they were kept in a peculiar manner and imperfectly, and never closed up. No one suspects for a moment that the Association suffered any wrong by this apparent neglect, but it was deemed advisable if not necessary, upon the introduction into office of the present Librarian, to open new accounts. Since then I am warranted by the report of the finance committee for the years 1867 and 1868, in stating that the books and accounts have been diligently and correctly kept,—both of the Recording Secretary and Treasurer.

FINANCES OF THE ASSOCIATION.

The following statement of the finances of the Association is taken from the reports of the finance committee.

RECEIPTS FOR 1867

Amount received for quarterly dues	$1,457	92

" " " rent	550	00

From this it appears that the Association at the close of this year was in debt $281 57. To meet this deficiency and enable the Treasurer to pay the current expenditures for the time being, Mr C. H. Lewis kindly volunteered to loan the Association $300 without interest.

During this year, as shown by the minutes of the Board of Directors, there was received from the proceeds of the lecture delivered in March, 1868, by Hon. J. S. Smith, the sum of $135 00; and also from the proceeds of the Philharmonic concert, held in January, 1868, the sum of $248 75. But the greater portion of these sums were consumed in reimbursing Mr. Lewis the sum loaned to make up the deficiency in receipts for 1867. The deficit at the end of the year 1868 was $11 11 The finance committee report, that the quarterly dues collected for the current quarter place the Association out of debt. Dues and fines collected in 1868 are in excess of those of 1867—the former by $210 and the latter by $16 65. There has been $111 90 more expended for books during 1868 than in 1867.

BOOKS

Prior to 1867 the number of volumes entered on the register as having been purchased by or given to the Association was very near 2,000. Of these quite a number were public documents, presented by our Senators and Representatives in Congress. Upon taking an account of the books on hand on February 22, 1867, it was found that some 60 or 70 of the books entered on the register were lost or stolen. During the year there was also sold some 60 volumes, while 135 volumes were added to it, by purchase or gift—mostly the former Thus the year closed with very near 2,360 volumes on the shelves of the Library.

Prior to February 22, 1867, no record can be found of the number or character of books loaned from the Library From that date to the close of that year, there was loaned 3,377 volumes, classified as follows:

Romance	2,305	Essays and Criticisms	92
History	264	Poetry	89
Travels	100	Religion	41
Biography	80	Miscellaneous	158
Science	120
Total			3,377

During this period the Reading room was furnished with 57 newspapers and magazines

During the year 1868 there was loaned 6,398 volumes—classified as follows

Romance	4,570	History	405
Travels	434	Science	110
Biography	257	Belles Lettres	75
Poetry	140	Miscellaneous	206
Religion	71
Total			6,398

During the year there was added to the Library by purchase and gift, but mostly the former, 225 volumes The circulation of the Library in 1868 exceeded that of 1867 by 89 per centum, 73 per centum of which is due to the increased circulation of Romances

When we consider that in this age, all questions that are of public interest, whether theological, religious, political, social, governmental or art are discussed, combated and advocated in the guise of fiction, the excess of romance reading among the subscribers to the Library we be seen to be more apparent than real Besides as has been substantially said elsewhere, many persons purchase and own their substantial or special reading, who depend almost wholly upon public Libraries for their light literature.

The publishers of newspapers in the United country and in some of the adjoining Territories have furnished the Library with copies of their publications free of charge. During the past year the Library has been enriched and adorned by the presentation of some valuable books and works of art. Special mention of the names of the donors will be found in the report of the Librarian

MEMBERSHIP

At the close of the year 1867 there was Life members 1 Honorary members 2 and subscribing members 141 [illegible] paying members and full one half of them joined within that year. At the beginning of this year the names of many of the subscribers to the original fund, were dropped out of the list of members They had long since ceased to pay dues In June of this year the by-laws were so amended Section 1 of Article 1 of the By-laws was so as to reduce their initiation fee from $5 to $2, and the Library Committee instructed their Librarian to receive from a member ex officio a quarterly payment for such longer period for which the dues of such person might be paid in advance

At the close of the year 1868 there was Life members 1 Honorary members 2 subscribing members 144

FINES

It will be seen from the statements of the finances for the years 1867 and 1868, that the fines imposed by the Library regulations for keeping books beyond the term allowed, have been pretty closely collected In December 1867 the Board of Directors amended Section 12 of Article 1 on that subject, thereby reducing the fines from 1 and 2 cents a volume to 10 and 15 cents

The Library Committee supported by the Board of Directors have insisted upon the fair and impartial enforcement of the rule and it has been done To admit of its relaxation in favor of one member or in a particular instance, would render its general enforcement impossible Without it, the Library shelves would soon be emptied of their most popular and interesting books. At the same time, it is not desirable that members should increase these fines. They are not imposed for the purpose of raising revenue, but to protect and preserve the property of the Association, by enforcing the prompt return of its books The propriety and well being of the Association, demands that the books should be returned within the appointed time so that they may be kept in the general circulation.

With this end in view, at the last meeting of the Board of Directors, Article 1 of the Library Regulations was amended by adding to it Section 16, which substantially proves,—that the Librarian shall place in each book that he loans to a member a slip of paper, containing number of the book the date of its being loaned, and the length of time it may be detained; and also, that when a book, is five days overdue the Librarian shall notify the person to whom it is charged, personally or through the mail of the delinquency, adding five cents to the daily fines for serving the notice.

NEW ROOMS

At the last meeting of the Board of Directors Mr W. S. Ladd, on behalf of Ladd & Tilton, presented the Association with a lease for three years from March 1, 1869, for a suite of rooms in the second story of their elegant new Bank Building on the corner of First and Stark streets. The main room is 24 by 80 feet and fronts on First street, but is also lighted in the rear by a large skylight. It is contemplated to use this for the Library and Reading room. The other room is 26 by 30 feet, and beautifully lighted, being in the front corner of the building. It is proposed to use this latter for a chess room. All things considered, they are the handsomest and most eligible rooms in the city, and are worth from $1,200 to $1,500 per annum.

The lease allows the Board to take possession after the 10th instant for the purpose of furnishing the rooms. The Board voted to accept the lease, and passed a vote of thanks to the generous donor.

In making this valuable gift to the Association Mr. Ladd has evinced a just and elevated perception of the value and proper use of the good fortune which years of industry and integrity, spent in our midst, has deservedly brought him. His conduct in this respect is a worthy and large realization of the following suggestions contained in his annual report, as President, for the year 1864:

"No person will attempt to deny the many advantages of this Association to the people of Portland—young and old, permanent and transient. It is well calculated to be useful and elevating at home, and to give us a desirable character abroad. Under these circumstances it is a serious cause of regret to find several of our members, who could afford to be generous, withholding their aid from us. It is to be hoped that they may yet see the duty and propriety of aiding liberally in this worthy enterprise."

The Committee on Rooms have under consideration the mode and cost of furnishing the New Rooms. The cost will not be less than $1,000, and double that sum might be advantageously employed for the purpose. The Board will make every exertion to furnish the rooms in a suitable style at an early a day as possible. For this purpose a subscription paper has been circulated among the members and others with the following results: C. H. Lewis, $100; H. W. Corbett, $100, H. W. Failing, $50; R. R. Thompson, $50. McCraken & Merrill, $50; R. G. Sneath, $50, L. Goldsmith & Co., $50; Couch & Flanders, $50; I. A. Davenport, $50; Charles E. Calef, $50, R. B. Knapp, $25; Thomas A. Davis, $25. in all $650. The paper is still in circulation.

As a means of assisting in furnishing the rooms, and also extending the interest in the Library, the Library Committee have organized a course of six lectures, to be delivered at Philharmonic Hall. The following gentlemen kindly consented to lecture for us: Rev. J. H. Wythe, Gen. Elisha L. Applegate, Rev. Wm. H. Stey, Rev. T. L. Eliot, Rev. A. L. Lindsley and Dr. J. H. Bill.

The first Lecture has been delivered with pecuniary results far short of what was due the lecturer and the object of his effort. The second lecture has been postponed on account of the indisposition of the lecturer. The third lecture will be delivered next Tuesday evening, and I take this occasion to urge upon you to take an interest in the matter and see that the lectures hereafter are well attended.

AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION.

At the January meeting of the Board, notice was ordered to be given of a proposition to be submitted to this meeting of the Association, to amend Article 2 of the Constitution on the subject of membership.

The special feature of this amendment is to divide the subscribing members into yearly and quarterly members,—requiring the former to pay annually in advance the sum of $20 or $22 and the latter to pay quarterly in advance the sum of $2 or $4 The power of voting to be confined to the yearly members but the quarterly members are to be eligible to office and entitled to all the privileges of the rooms and books

We want more money to buy books with. We ought to be able to expend $1,000 a year in books, magazines, periodicals, etc. Hitherto the dues have about paid expenses, and for the purchase of books we have been dependent upon casual contributions.

There is good reason to believe that this scheme of adopted by you will increase the receipts from dues at least $500 per annum, and if you place the quarterly dues at two dollars, will enable a large class of persons to avail themselves of your library and its privileges who are now deterred from so doing by the difference between the present dues and that now suggested

I am also satisfied, that by increasing the dues of the voting members, you will be putting the practical ownership and control of the property and conduct of the Association on a sound business footing This will induce and encourage our worthy and public spirited fellow citizens to contribute largely to the capital of the Association. Pass this amendment and I am certain that you can command a donation of $500 a year for the next three years for the purchase of standard books and the like

The amendment will be presented to you by the Recording Secretary, and with these suggestions I am satisfied to leave the decision of the matter in your hands

NEW MEMBERS

Two years ago I became a member of the Board For the past year I have had the honor of serving as President During these two years I have given more than [illegible] of the time of [illegible] to the Library Committee and [illegible] part of the time of the Librarian and purchasing new books These purchases have been made in the main from our own merchants upon terms quite as favorable as they could be made elsewhere. Books not received here I have generally purchased of A. Roman & Co. San Francisco. The magazines and periodicals have been principally taken by various subscribers through the American News Co., New York. For the future I would recommend that we adopt the plan of the Mercantile Library, of San Francisco, and let the contract to furnish these articles, by the year, to some one of our own news dealers.

In concluding I have the pleasure to state that the Library Rooms are [illegible] well [illegible] with a few exceptions patronized in their attendance at meetings and always ready and willing to do what they could to promote the prosperity and usefulness of your Association. Soon after I became a Director, Mr Lillie Gitle [illegible] land was employed to act as Librarian and Recording Secretary at a salary of $75 per month. It is but simple justice to Mr Gilleland to say, that he has been faithful and diligent in the performance of his duties.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

MATTHEW P. DEADY,
President P. L. Association.

NASBY.

MR NASBY GOES TO NEW YORK AND ESTABLISHES HIMSELF IN BUSINESS —THE DISASTROUS ENDING OF THE ENTERPRISE

Which is in the State of Kentucky,
Jan 8, 1869.

The undersigned hez made a great leap. He located in Noo York in persoonance of an agreement he hez cherished long. His career in Noo York wuz brilliant ef it wuz short. It lasted twenty-four konsecutiv hours, that bein the average length uv time a honist man kin exist in that city. One of the classic poits speeks uv the awkwardnis uv bein in hell without claws shed he substitooted Noo York for hell he wood hev hit it closer.

The citizens uv the Corners held a consultation ez to wat wuz to be done with me when A. Johnson shood shuffle off the mortal coil uv offishal life. I broacht to em my ijee uv goin to Noo York, to wich they acceded with an alacrity wich wuz not so complimentary ez it mite hev ben. I thot I detectid in their eagernis to pervide for me at a distance more uv a desire to get rid uv me than a solisitood for my well-bein. Indeed, when Deakin Pogram askt "whar shel we fix him?" Bascom onfeelingly remarkt, "Anywher—anywher" But sich is life. Republics hev allus been ungrateful. Homer begged his bred and A Johnson wuzn't nominatid for the Presidency by the Dimocricy.

When I statid that I desired to go to Noo York, and that all that prevented it wuz capital enuff to start a grosery, Bascom to wunst remarkt that that shoodnt stand in the way.

"I mile ez well giv yoo two barrils to wunst," sed he, "and be done with it, ez to hev yoo prolong it a nip at a time for six months. Indeed it wood be more economical ez it wood save me the labor uv drawin it. I giv two barrils uv whisky to get rid uv—that is to establish our friend in a new feeld uv labor."

McPelter and Penibacker contributed money enuff to pay the freight onto the likker and to pervide the necessary fixters for a bar, and that nite I left the Corners, hopin never to be compelled to return. But feelin the truth uv the proverb that there's many a slip atwixt the cup and the lip, I didn't resign the Postoffis, but lockt it leavin directions with the boy who carries the mail to leave Deakin Pogram's papers at his house.

On my way to Noo York I indulged in the most pleasin dreams. I fancid myself behind my own bar—gittin my own likker at wholesale—uv hevin a back room into wich caucusses shood be held—hevin a sufficient run uv hizniss, and the consekent control uv enuff votes to be on speakin terms with Governor Hoffman and Mayor Hall; uv hevin nominatid

The New Song

Beyond the hills where suns go down
And lights beckon as they go,
I see the land of far renown,
The land which I soon shall know.

Above the dissonance of Time,
And discord of its angry words,
I hear the everlasting chime
The music of unjarring chords.

I bid it welcome, and my haste
To join it cannot brook delay;
O song of morning, come at last,
And ye who sing it come away!

O song of light, and dawn and bliss,
Sound over earth, and fill these skies,
Nor ever, ever, ever cease
Thy soul entrancing melodies

Glad song of this disburdened earth,
Which holy voices then shall sing;
Praise for Creation's second birth,
And glory to creation's King.

Prehistoric Man.

Dr. Carl Vogt has been giving an interesting course of lectures on this subject at Antwerp lately. His object is to show that, the further back we go into the past, the less development there is in the human form. Everywhere in the prehistoric period we meet in man with characteristics bringing him nearer and nearer to the lower animal; prominent eyebrows, slanting teeth, flat chin, are always found in connection with the earliest periods of the human race. Development of form has always kept pace with that of the brain, the size and weight of which are proportionate to the increase of the intellectual faculties. This leads to the question in how far the monkey differs from man. The anthropomorphous ape has one important feature in common with man; it has no tail. But there are great differences in the form of the limbs, chiefly the hands and feet; then in the shape of the head, especially in the relation of the skull to the face. The former is placed above the latter in man, but in the ape the face projects forward, and the skull stands apart like a kind of button. But the most curious circumstance adverted to by Dr. Vogt is that all these distinctions tend to disappear as we go back from the adult subject to the infant. Between a negro child and a white one the difference of shape is very slight; it only becomes remarkable as they get older. In the ape, all the peculiarities of the skull and face are the fruit of advancing years; the new-born creature has the appearance of a human infant. Every day we hear it said that there exists a relationship between the horse and the ass for instance. Dr. Vogt shows that this is far from being a mere idea; it is simply the expression of fact. And here he professes himself a decided Darwinist, declaring that the various types of animals are developed by degrees. But man cannot be traced "it to the ape actually living; he descends with them from a common stock, from which they have branched out into three races; the orang outang, the chimpanzee, and the gorilla. According to Dr. Vogt, therefore, man unites in himself certain characteristics of each of these branches, viz., the brain of the orang outang, the skull and teeth of the chimpanzee, and the limbs of the gorilla.

Registry Law for the Territories.

[From the Idaho Statesman, Jan 28.]

GLORY, HALLELUJAH!—The Registry Law has passed the national house of representatives, and that, too, under the fitting title of "preserving the purity of elections in the Territories." What a cruel stroke at Democratic liberty! We can't blame the Democratic organs for [illegible] against this right-and-act; it is liable to do away with all the available trash in their ranks. Those who live on the fruits of voting early and often are now placed on Othello's footing. What will they do with but one vote to dispose of? It won't keep them through their idle period of two years. A necessary introduction to a pick and shovel will be the result. Poor fellows! What a nice time they did have, and what a rich harvest has forever been placed beyond their reach. Just think! An opportunity to vote six or eight times in one day's ride. In Boise county no riding is necessary; a short walk of five miles is all that is required to vote at five different polls. The necessity of swearing a vote in is easily avoided, as a gang are always stationed at each poll for that express purpose. Now it is different. A fair and square deal for which the unterrified have the greatest horror! Members and attaches of the Legislature can no longer vote at the capital while they are playing [illegible] for counties hundreds of miles beyond the city limits. Emigrant trains, including mules, can no longer be detained a few days and voted in our valley. Such [illegible] as Gov. Wallace, who are traveling from California to Montana are forever barred from polluting the ballot box of Idaho with their votes. We are glad to note that the time is fast approaching when a fair expression of the people can be had in this Territory. With this assurance we have no fears of the result.

CHANCE OF NAME!

MERCADO & CO., SUCCESSORS TO Mercado & Scully, have been obliged for their own protection, and the safety of the public, to change the name of their celebrated Bitters to

MERCADO'S
Native California Wine
BITTERS

We subjoin the following affidavit in an appeal in suit formerly pending between Mercado & Scully, plaintiffs, and G. A. Simon, defendant.

P. Sainsevain, being duly sworn says: That the article known as Sainsevain's California Wine Bitters was manufactured by Mercado & Scully about the month of March, 1861, without the said Sainsevain Brothers having any concern in the manufacture thereof. The deponent has always known and considered and Mercado & Scully as the Sole Proprietors of the Sainsevain California Wine Bitters."

Notwithstanding the above affidavit the said P. Sainsevain is putting up a compound under the name of Sainsevain's California Wine Bitters, representing it to be the same as our celebrated Bitters which we have been manufacturing and selling in immense quantities since 1860, and also affixing a nearly similar label to that used on our genuine Wine Bitters. BE NOT DECEIVED! Send for

NATIVE CALIFORNIA WINE BITTERS,

And you will obtain the same popular beverage so favorably known since 1860. Beware of Counterfeits! Purchasers of our Wine Bitters are requested to observe the familiar old yellow label, and see that the words, "MERCADO & SEULLY, SAN FRANCISCO," are engraved on the Government stamp pasted over the cork of each bottle. This is the only effectual security against the counterfeit imitations.

Proposals must be to carry the mail with "celerity, certainty, and security," using the terms of the law, and they must be guaranteed by two responsible persons, certified to as such by a postmaster or judge of a court of record.

No pay will be made for trips not performed, and for each of such omissions not satisfactorily explained three times the pay of the trip may be deducted. For arrivals so far behind time as to harass connections with depending mails, and not sufficiently excused, one-fourth of the compensation for the trip is subject to forfeiture. Fines will be imposed, unless the delinquency be satisfactorily explained, for neglecting to take the mail from or into a postoffice for unloading it to be injured, robbed, or lost, and for refusing, after demand, to convey the mail as frequently as the contractor runs, or is required to run any vehicle on the route. The Postmaster General may annul the contract for disobeying the post office laws, or the instructions of the Department. He may alter the schedule of departures and arrivals, and also order an increase of service by allowing therefor a pro rata increase on the contract pay. He may also contract for discontinues the service in whole or in part at a pro rata decrease of pay, allowing one month's extra compensation on the amount of service dispensed with. Bids should be addressed to the "Second Assistant Postmaster General," superscribed "Proposals, State of Oregon," and sent by mail.

For forms of proposal, &c., and other information, see advertisement of this date, in pamphlet form, at the principal post offices. ALEX W RANDALL,

By common consent, the OREGONIAN ranks first among the papers published in the Northwest. It is the oldest paper in the State, and its circulation and influence are greater than that of any other two papers combined. As a journal of enterprise in gathering the latest intelligence, and in giving in each issue a larger amount and greater variety of reading matter it has no competitor. It is thoroughly identified with this city and State and neighboring Territories, where the number of its readers and its influence are constantly increasing.

An unflinching advocate of sound Union principles, it at the same time pays special attention not only to MATTERS OF GENERAL INTEREST, but to everything of moment to the great

RUMOR OF AN IMPORTANT EVENT.—We heard a report last evening that a telegram had been received from Mr S. G. Reed to the effect that the railroad subsidy had been secured to the West Side Company. We are unable to state whether any credence should be given the rumor.

Since the above was in type we learn from West Side authority that the news is to this effect: That a bill to extend the time in which the conditions of the law granting a subsidy, could be complied with and the company's acceptance be filed, has been defeated in Congress. The law provided that the acceptance should be filed by July, 1867. The West Side Co. claims that it did so in time, or before July, and that the East Side Company did not. It is therefore claimed that the defeat of the bill to extend the time is a practical confirmation of the grant to the West Side Company.

GOING EAST.—Mr. J. D. Biles, of the P. T. Co., will leave for the East by next steamer, to go by way of San Francisco and thence overland. His mission is one of observation connected with the proposed enterprise of constructing locks on the east side of the Willamette around the falls at Oregon City. He will visit Lockport, New York, and the Falls of the Ohio, for the purpose of examining the locks at those places and will doubtless visit other places and will obtain illustrations, estimates, plans and specifications, for use by the Company here. He will be absent perhaps two months, or so much longer as may be necessary to complete the requisite observations. We understand that it is the purpose of the P. T. Co. to begin the works early in the season.

UNLAWFUL.—We mentioned the fact yesterday morning that the fire of Saturday evening was occasioned by the experiments of some little boys with powder left in the building—the old Gymnasium. The building has been sometimes used as a place to store the State cannon and it seems somebody, after using the gun, left a lot of powder in the building. It has been ascertained since the fire that not less than one hundred and fifty pounds of powder were in the building at the time of the fire. It is almost miraculous that it was not exploded, in which case the results must have been serious, as nobody seemed aware of its presence and the building was full of or surrounded by men. The storing of such a quantity of powder was not only an act of gross carelessness, but was unlawful.

JURORS.—The following is a list of the jurors drawn and summoned to attend the February term of the Circuit Court: John Donovan, Israel Gradon, Wm. P. Dwyer, M. Gleason, John A. Fisher, Wm. F. Allen, H. J. McIntire, Amos N. King, Noah Lambert, K. Durkheimer, Chas. Hopkins, John C. Ainsworth, T. J. McGowan, Joseph Knott, C. Dettach, Geo. F. Greene, M. A. Eldridge, John A. Blanchard, Wm. E. Cooper, Geo. Holcapple, Samuel Hipie, Jacob Fleischner, Ezra Johnson, Chas. F. Kuhn, J. L. Atkinson, W. H. C. Doubleboyer, Edward Failing, J. Allen, Joseph Myrick, Felix Landes, John A. Daly. The Grand Jury will be selected from the panel, by lot.

BAD DRAINAGE.—Whenever the rains are at all heavy the street drains in this city are not the loveliest things imaginable. There is scarcely a surface drain on any of the cross streets but is filled with more articles of trash than were ever dreamed of in anybody's philosophy; and these dam the drain and then the dammed drain runs over, flooding the streets and crossings, much to the damage of not only the streets but to the christian tempers of pedestrians. Salmon street, for instance is crossed in two or three places by little cachoes of water channels; and Salmon street is not by any means singular in this ... The owners of property adjoining should be made to keep the drains cleared.

A NOTE from Chief Engineer Weed, in relation to the cistern at the intersection of Alder and Second streets, mentioned yesterday morning as being out of order, says that "the cistern is in good order, full of water, and has only about six inches of mud in the bottom." We mentioned that the foreman of No. 2's told us, that the engine could not draw water because of mud in the bottom of the cistern; but we did not attribute the blame to anybody, much less to the Chief Engineer. During the heavy rains which have fallen of late, it would not be singular if mud had accumulated, without anybody being at fault.

WESTERN STAGING.—The stages between Portland and Lake ... California, are making the distance from one end of the route to the other in ten and a half days, or a day and a half less than ... time. The trips have been, all winter, made in less than twelve days, except two or three days ... the R... river was impassable. This has been ... notwithstanding the roads have been in much worse ... than the ordinary course of winter; and it is ... well for the energy and efficiency of the ... are other mail ... whom we ... who could do well to imitate the ... of the stage company.

GRAIN.—A gentleman from the upper part of the valley, and who has excellent opportunities for observation, informs us that it is astonishing to see the great area of land which is being turned over this winter for the purpose of being sown to grain. He thinks that more new land is being broken up for grain, than at any time within the last ten or twelve years. The winter has been remarkably favorable for this sort of industry and the fruits of it will ... be seen next fall, in the largest wheat crop ever harvested in Oregon. The more the merrier.

LIBRARY LECTURE TO-NIGHT.—We call attention to the lecture to be delivered to-night at the Philharmonic Hall by the Rev. William H. Stoy, upon the subject "The ... the A... Saxons." From the lecturer's well ... we are satisfied the lecture will prove ... and interesting. The cause for which the lecture is given is well worthy the public patronage, and we ... the lecturer a large attendance. Lecture ... 7:30 P. M. Tickets fifty cents.

... REPORT.—In another column in ... will be found the report of the ... Portland Library, upon the various matters of interest connected with that institution. It will be found an interesting document to all city readers ... bers of the association or not.

U. S. COURT.—Judge Boise of the 3d Judicial District arrived at this city last evening and will, this morning, open the term of the Circuit Court for Judge Upton, and will sit till Judge Upton arrives, or till the docket is ... It is supposed that Judge Upton is a passenger by the Ajax, now on her passage up.

BOAT OUT.—The Commercial says: Capt. J. N. ..., the owner and master heretofore of the Ranger, has, we are informed, sold the steamer to his father, and the transfer took place to-day. Capt. J. N. will, it is said, ... command of the Carrie, which will go into the ... from Portland down the Columbia.

OUR STEAMER.—An advertisement under the head of "New To-day," informs the public that the ... Carrie will start this morning for Monticello and hereafter she will make tri-weekly trips between this city and that place. Capt. J. C. Ringsley is to have command.

... —The Ladies of the Hall-Street M. E. Church ... the friends to send in their contributions for the ... early Wednesday morning. Those unable to ... girls, will please inform the committee, who will then be at the church.

FROM NEW YORK TO PORTLAND.—The bark Walter ..., in the direct line from New York to Portland will sail from New York on the 10th day of March next. Those desiring to ship out, should make immediate application.

... AID.—The West Side Railroad Company has ... the county subsidy from Yamhill county, the ... ities having signed the bonds securing interest on ... sixty-five thousand dollars. This is a big lift.

TRAVEL.—The stage men inform us that the small pox scare has almost totally stopped travel by stage. It has certainly made no difference in the travel by steamers. The passenger lists are as full as before.

FUNERAL.—The remains of John F. Farley were interred yesterday in the Catholic cemetery with military honors by the Washington Guard. It was rather an imposing funeral.

FOR ALASKA.—The steamship Active is advertised to sail from this port on the 15th inst., to connect at Victoria with the John L. Stevens for Fort Tongas, Fort Wrangle and Sitka.

... —In yesterday's item it was stated, "Wm. Jackson was found dead in his bed at the Shakspeare Hotel." This was a mistake. It should have read "Pioneer Hotel."

FROM SAN FRANCISCO.—The steamship Ajax sailed from San Francisco for Portland, last Saturday, and will therefore be due here to-night or to-morrow morning.

PERSONAL.—Gov. Woods arrived down from the Dalles last evening, and will remain in town to-day.

FOR VICTORIA.—The steamship Active will sail for Victoria at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

FOR COUGHS, COLDS AND THROAT DISORDERS, use Brown's Bronchial Troches, having proved their efficacy by a test of many years. The Troches are highly recommended and prescribed by Physicians and Surgeons in the army. Those exposed to sudden changes should always be supplied with "The Troches," as they give prompt relief.

SAIL UNDER FALSE COLORS!!

THE BEST EVIDENCE OF THE VALUE OF AN article may be found in the fact of its having numerous imitators. Every fine poem has its parodies; every meritorious literary work is subject to plagiarisms; every successful play has been burlesqued; every honest man has his detractors. Every genuine dollar has been counterfeited; and every valuable medicinal preparation has its vile imitations. The proprietors of have encountered the usual experience in this respect. Such has been the success of this sterling preparation, that all inferior articles of the kind have virtually been driven from the market. The concoctors of these beverages, finding that this new Tonic has exactly met the public want, and that no further demand exists for inferior preparations, have resorted to the dishonest expedient of imitating either the name or the style of label, both of which have been duly secured by the laws of the State to the proprietors of the I X L Bitters.

In justice to ourselves, as well as to the public who may be deceived by these nefarious practices, we hereby notify all parties guilty of infringement on our rights as well as those who have been buying up our old bottles in order to palm off their own nostrums as the genuine article, that they will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

For the further protection of consumers, we would state that we never sell our Bitters in bulk, but always by the case. Look for our Trade Mark on every bottle; and if ordering the article otherwise than direct from us, be sure to order "Dr. Henley's Wild Grape Root I X L Bitters," and don't allow yourself to be imposed upon with an inferior article.

The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here and in the markets of the interior a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. NOTICE IN BANKRUPTCY.—This is to give notice that on the 18th day of January, 1869, a warrant in Bankruptcy was issued against the estate of John A. Carr of Portland, Multnomah Co. State of Oregon, who has been adjudged a bankrupt on his own petition that the payment of any debts and delivery of any property belonging to said bankrupt to him, or for his use, and the transfer of any property by him are forbidden by law. That a meeting of the creditors of said bankrupt to prove their debts and choose one or more assignees of his estate, will be held at a Court of Bankruptcy to be holden at

TUESDAY MORNING, FEB 9 1869.

British and American Tariffs

Great Britain is not quite a free trade country, indeed according to the report furnished to Parliament of the amount of revenue raised by the customs duties, it appears that the sum total for the year ending March 31, 1868, was £22,808,140, or $111,000,000 nearly in Federal money. The amount raised in the United States during the same time was $164,704,599. There is something curious in the fact that customs duties in the United States have decreased during the past three years nearly nine per cent, while the customs duties of Great Britain have increased eleven per cent, in the same time. In order to render this matter clear we reproduce the respective aggregates for the years alluded to.

	Great Britain	United States.
1866	$114,000,000	$164,464,599
1867	113,779,295	176,417,810
1868	106,783,615	170,046,051

"British free trade," then, is a very convenient fiction for those who declare that the future prosperity of this country depends entirely upon the removal of every restriction in the shape of a tariff on foreign commerce.

But in one respect Great Britain's system of tariffs is better than that of the United States. It is much simpler than ours and includes fewer articles. The greater part of the revenue is produced from tobacco, spirits, sugar, tin, copper and breadstuffs. Tobacco and spirits yield nearly half the customs revenue, and the other articles enumerated produce almost the other half. But as sugar, tea, coffee and breadstuffs pay heavy import duties, it will be seen that the common people, even in "free-trade England," are heavily taxed by the tariff on articles which are indispensable to their subsistence. Our tariff might be simplified, and ought to be; but it cannot be abolished. On this subject we append the following from the Springfield (Mass.) Republican:

> Free trade will not soon be the policy of this nation. The necessities of our revenue will render it necessary, for a great many years yet, to collect large sums by duties upon imports; and so long as these are imposed, they will be so arranged as to favor American production. Free trade was never so much honored as a theory, nor so far from realization as a matter of fact, as at the present time. A moderate and judicious protection is certain to be the controlling policy of the country, for the present at least; and it is even less liable than in the past to be subjected to interruption by experiments of the opposite nature. Were the Democratic to-day in power, it would not dream of instituting free trade, or even a strictly "revenue tariff."
> But this principle of protection has been abused and perverted until it has defeated in a great measure its own ends. No discrimination or moderation has been used. There has been nothing like comprehension, or even like compensation, in adjusting the scale of duties. Every interest has operated "on its own hook," for an inquiry, and has submitted according to its pertinacity and impudence, or according to the skill with which it could wield the weapons of party and of lobby—not at all according to the justice of its case. As a consequence, many articles, which are in the nature of raw materials, are taxed so heavily that the production of the finer class of manufacture is wholly defeated.
> The latter demands the immediate attention of Congress and the country. The whole system must be reviewed with something like statesmanlike comprehension. Special interests must cease to [illegible] assistance in proportion to their impudence and importunity. The relations of the different manufactures must be adjusted with delicacy and discretion. The scale of duties must correspond to the importance and to the necessities of the industries to be protected. There must be a selection made of those which have the most claim, and those which have the least claim upon the country.

The Great Railroad Scheme.

Senator Howard's bill for subsidizing the grand system of Western Railroads includes the North Pacific, and the Salt Lake, Idaho and Columbia River Branch; but it appears to exclude what is called the "Oregon Branch Company," that is, the branch from the Central Pacific from a point in the State of Nevada through by the Klamath Lakes and one of the Southern passes of the Cascades Mountains to the Willamette valley and on to Portland. In another part of the dispatch it is stated, however, that this Oregon Branch and the Western Division of the Central Pacific are authorized to combine to construct a railroad between the 34th and 36th parallels through New Mexico to form a junction with the Texas Pacific—a scheme which with the information furnished us so far, is by no means easy of comprehension. But if we get the Northern road and the Idaho Branch we shall have no grounds to complain of any lack of attention, and our Southern counties can be provided for by an extension beyond the Willamette valley of the roads now building. But Howard's bill may and probably will be modified in some particulars. This much, however, is certain: If any act shall pass, we of the northwest coast will be remembered and provided for.

Southern Industry.

Proofs multiply of the growing prosperity of the Southern States under the system of free and remunerated labor. A correspondent of the New York Post writes from Georgia (Jan. 9): "An immense area will be planted in cotton next year. The incentive of 25 cents per pound is irresistable. Everyone is going to plant who has an acre of ground, and everyone seems confident that cotton will never fall again below 20 cent.' The eagerness to 'go to work and make something' is universal. Arrangements are being made to erect several cotton and paper mills. The coal mines are being worked more extensively and more profitably than heretofore. Business in the towns and cities has not been so active since the war closed. Everyone has money except the lawyers and the editors. Railroad enterprises are in every stage of embryo construction, from the bare project to the advertisement for proposals to build the first twenty miles. Politicians alone look gloomy, shake their heads, and are apprehensive."

A Sound Democrat.

The Chico (Cal.) Caucasian is a paper exactly after the style of the Democratic organs of this city. But it has more ability than they possess, and consequently it states with more clearness, precision and force the true tenets of its party. We make the following extract from one of its recent articles:

> We have now reached a point upon which we wish to first the attention of our brethren of the Democratic press. These Resolutions were adopted as the creed of our party, down to 1860. At the Chicago Convention, Mr. Long, of Cincinnati, proposed the first Kentucky Resolution as a part of the platform, and it was rejected. Right here the Democratic party laid aside its Democracy. McClellan, bathed in the gore of the countrymen of Jefferson and Madison, who faithfully adhered to their doctrines, was nominated as a proper man for the Democracy to vote for! He spurned the platform presented to him, and notwithstanding the indignity, they voted for him, and suffered a double humiliation in his defeat. This was bad enough, but what followed after the lapse of four years, was worse. A Southern Tory, whose political sinuosities it was difficult to trace—who followed the brute scoundrel, Sherman, in his Alaric raid through Georgia, North and South Carolina,—was presented for the suffrages of this same Democracy, and he, with his impolitic leader, were lauded to the skies for their aid in subjugating a brave and generous people, who had been driven by ruthless fanatics to seek safety for their domestic institutions in separate self government! * * * We tell our brethren of the Examiner, Sonoma Democrat, and Mariposa Mail, that something must be done, or thousands upon thousands of Democrats all over the Union will follow the example of Belmont, and cease voting altogether.

THE NATIONAL DEBT.—The New York Times, speaking of the public debt statement, says: "It will be noticed that but for the recent subsidies to the Pacific roads, which now amount altogether to over fifty million of dollars, the reduction of the public debt since the close of the war would have appeared reasonably satisfactory, especially when the tax in connection with the relief of the tax-payers of the country from nearly one-half the original burdens of the Internal Revenue system. As it is, the net curtailment of the public debt since 1865 is over two hundred millions of dollars, and it is also a subject of congratulation that over five-sixths of all the subsidies heretofore voted to the Pacific roads, have already been issued and added to the debt.

THE "IDAHO STATESMAN" Jas S Reynolds has sold this paper to H. C. Street, C L. Goodrich and A. J. Boyakin, who will hereafter conduct it as a Democratic journal.

STATE ITEMS.

The Corvallis Gazette is in doubt whether the small-pox is at Yaquina Bay. There are contradictory reports about it.

The firm of Jacob Conser & Son of Jefferson, Marion county, have sold half their flouring mill to John Burnett, late of Illinois, for $10,000. J. A. Conser retires from the business.

The Yamhill Courier of last week has eight or ten columns devoted mainly to the inquiry, "Can a State secede?" The editor concludes it can't. We are glad that question is settled, at any rate.

Jasper of the Courier shies a very huge brick bat at his secession Democratic adversaries. We just pass it along: "The Commercial, Herald, and the chief of the damphool family, who is ink slinging through the dirty little Guard at Eugene, having taken exceptions to our denying the right of secession, if the first two gentlemen are not too much prejudiced, they may see the errors of their ways by studying our leader and this article. But the Guard man has not mind enough to comprehend any connected thought."

"The Inside History of the Oregon Central Railroad Companies, with the Reasons showing the Portland (or West Side Company) to be entitled to the Land Grant," is the title of a pamphlet which has been put in our hands by J. Gaston, Esq., President of the West Side Road. It is a closely printed pamphlet of 40 pages, and no doubt fairly presents the controversy from that (the West Side) point of view. We have avoided taking any part in this controversy, but shall diligently read Mr. Gaston's pamphlet.

We have seen a letter from Washington, received in this city, in which Senator Williams' argument on the famous Sue Murphy claim is incidentally alluded to and spoken of very highly. The writer adds: "Senator Williams consumes but little time in making speeches, but, when he does engage in discussion, he not only commands the undivided attention of the Senate, but his arguments usually find place in the leading papers of the country, and have a wide influence in moulding public sentiment among the masses from the Atlantic to the shores of the Pacific."

A correspondent at Jefferson, Marion county, writes: "We are having a better school this winter than ever before. * * * Capt. Lafollet is teaching writing school at Jefferson. * * * No Union man up this way is asking the Governor to call an extra session of the Legislature. * * * We are expecting the railroad to reach here next fall; consequently we are preparing for it by putting in large crops. * * * We have had no snow here this winter and no high water; the stage has not missed a single trip. * * * Died near Jefferson, Feb. 2d, of diptheria, Leroy, only child of John B. Looney, aged about five years."

DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

DATES TO FEBRUARY 8.

The Pacific Railroad Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb 7. Senator Howard's Columbia Pacific Railroad bill, reported yesterday, provides for an not granting lands in aid of the Northern Pacific, but to be construed as granting such lands but each alternate section to be reserved apart, for the benefit of the company and to secure the bonds except as hereafter provided. All the same conditions except the Oregon branch from point to be selected to form a guaranteed interest on thirty years six per cent bonds of $16,000 per mile, the principal of said bonds to constitute a first lien upon all their real and personal property. The company are also authorized to issue subsequent mortgage bonds on said property, not exceeding half the amount per mile of the bonds first mentioned. As security for the liability for its guarantee the Government will withhold payment of all dues for transportation for the said Government property and retain all moneys realized from the sale of land where any had been heretofore granted. After security or payment of interest, they must apply the receipts to the redemption of the bonds as they mature. Government also requires said company to pay into the Treasury of the United States ten per cent. of their gross earnings and receipts exclusive of the proceeds of bonds. If any company shall fail to pay over sum annually this ten per cent. of its gross receipts, such default may be treated as evidence of bankruptcy and the company be subject to proceedings against it under the bankrupt law.

The Oregon branch of the Pacific and the Union Pacific Eastern Division Companies are authorized by combination to form a corporation under the style of the "United States Southern Pacific Railroad Company," to construct a railroad and telegraph line between the 34th and 36th parallels, through New Mexico, to the junction with the Southern Pacific, or California, on the Colorado river.

The bill is going almost immediately to the Government Printing Office. It is impossible to give further details which relate to a description of the southern trunk line, to be constructed by various combinations, and to the manner of receiving and selling lands, making reports, etc.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—A Washington special says the omnibus Pacific Railroad bill will be killed by the aid of the friends of the thirty-second parallel road.

Horrible Child Murder.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 7.—A man named Heafor, living at Hannibal, yesterday killed his daughter, ten years of age. He tore out her heart, cut it in two and drank the blood. Army to be Reduced.

CHICAGO, Feb 8.—A special to the Republican says that the House Military Committee have agreed to report a bill for the reduction of the army. The bill provides for the consolidation of the paymaster, quartermaster and subsistence departments into one bureau called the department of supplies, under charge of one Brigadier, three Colonels, nine Lieutenant Colonels, forty five Majors and sixty Captains. The present number of officers in these departments is 183. It reduces the infantry regiments from 65 to 30. The cavalry and artillery are not reduced. No more Brigadiers are to be appointed beyond the present number. Eight and no more Brigadiers are to be appointed on staff, except as the chief of the supply department. It reduces the number of non-commissioned officers of each regiment and abolishes bands. The mode of reduction is by absorption, that is, by casualty, expiration of term, etc. All staff departments are to be reduced. No new appointments are to be made from West Point or from civil life until this reduction is accomplished, which it is surmised will require two years. The number of officers that are dispensed with will be about 600, and the measure will be proposed as an amendment to the army appropriation bill.

About Cuba.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—The Herald argues that the policy of intervention in the affair of Cuba is imperatively forced upon the incoming Administration from events transpiring. Judge Strong's "Review"

There is some one famed either in History, Mythology or song, as the Triple Thunderer. He was thus called because he thundered thrice as loud as any other power. The author of the review of Judge Deady's opinion refusing a new trial in the case of Randall, is also, in one sense, a Triple Thunderer, that is, he uses the same thunder three times, be it weak or be it strong. We have had it first on the trial of the case, next on the motion for a new trial and now as a review of the Judge's opinion. The unappreciative multitude say that the texture of the thunder at first was not a bit enough to bear expansion, and that there was not sufficient body to stand any dilution. Wherever we have heard the article of Mr Strong commented on, the popular verdict has been against his review, as the verdict of the Judge was against his client, and whilst all agree that it is against good taste to appeal from the decision of a legal tribunal to the popular feeling, the reflecting members of the community go further, and affirm that it is also against propriety. What good can be attained by the "Review," unless it be something personal to the author, we are at a loss to conceive. What good it can do, even to the author, is as "mysterious" as he claims to be the erasure in the record of registered matter in the Post Office. No man can be held accountable for not doing that which it is out of his power to do. No doubt the author of the "Review" did everything within the range of his ability to have his client acquitted, and yet it has been remarked by men perfectly capable of judging, and who have examined the article under consideration, "That it does not establish a theory incompatible with Randall's guilt, but that it does show facts which, under a more skillful manipulation, might have enabled a guilty man to go free."

Less conscientious counsel might have striven to have had Randall acquitted or satisfied himself of his guilt, in which event, neither counsel nor client would have been obliged "to mourn over his fall," nor "to condemn his sentence."

Members of the legal fraternity say that the letter from Mr. Fox to Mr. Put Smith commencing, "Randall tells me that the registered package affair has been taken before the grand jury," &c., was not legitimate evidence on the part of the defence to go to the jury, as it was nothing but hearsay, although in writing, and could have been excluded by the counsel for the United States had they seen fit so to do. It is said that it never could have been given as evidence save by the consent of the prosecution, who gave that consent freely, knowing the effect the letter would have on the result. Those who sympathize with Mr Randall think it a pity, if this is the case, that the letter was introduced by the defence. The jury perhaps, saw in that letter, as the impartial in the community now see in it, nothing but knowledge on the part of Randall of Fox's being involved in the affair, and of his (Randall's) complicity with him. Why was the letter introduced? Does it show that Fox, and Fox alone, is guilty? Can any implication be derived from it that Randall is innocent?

At all events it strikes those not skilled in legal proceedings as singular, "to say the least of it," to see counsel devote a column of that which it would be base flattery to call argument, to prove that evidence which he had introduced against all rule and only by consent of opposing counsel, was favorable to his client and not dead against him.

A few words as to the evidence of Fox. The "Review" says "that the prosecution should have placed Mr. Fox on the stand," that thus "putting him on the stand would have enabled us" (the defence) "to prove the first statements he made and the circumstances under which he made them." Could not this have been done even although Fox had been called by the defence as their own witness? If a party calls a witness who takes them by surprise, and makes statements on the stand totally different from those made on former occasions, cannot the party calling him show these facts? Section 828 on page 345 of the statutes of Oregon, is as follows: "The party producing a witness is not allowed to impeach his credit by evidence of character, but he may contradict him by other evidence and may also show that he has made at other times statements inconsistent with his present testimony." We are also informed that the rule of law outside of the statute is, that where a party is taken by surprise by a witness whom he has called, that he can give evidence of other and different statements made by the witness. Fox was called by the defence as a witness on the first trial. At that time there was no pretence of any arrangement between him and the District Attorney as to clemency to be extended to him. But few questions were asked him by the counsel for the defence. These questions all save one, related to his own share in the transaction, and he refused to answer them on the ground that by his answers he would criminate himself. The only question asked him in regard to Randall's participation in the affair was: "Is the defendant Randall innocent of the crime with which he is charged?" This, the Court, on the objection of the counsel for the United States, overruled as the answer would be a conclusion of law. He might have said that he was, and have arrived at that conclusion on the ground that gold dust was not mailable matter. He was not questioned by the defence as to any facts showing Randall's participation or non-participation in the crime and the Judge very properly told the jury that so far as Fox's testimony was concerned, the case stood precisely as if he had never been called. It will be noticed that this occurred at the first trial when no offer of clemency had been extended to Fox, and the defence having it in their power, if his answers did not suit them, to show that he had made other statements. Still no question was asked Fox as to any facts showing Randall's innocence, only the question whether he was innocent. Whose fault was that?

From the generally expressed opinion as to the impolicy of giving in evidence the letter from Mr. Fox to Mr. Put Smith, it would seem that the Judge did the defence a favor against their will in excluding the letter of J. Koontz, of October 1st, marked No. 3. Neither is it easy to be understood how a Judge can be charged with ruling to the damage of a party when he excludes illegal testimony which, even if admitted, he thinks would make more against the party offering it than for him.

If, as the "Reviewer" asserts, a judicial opinion "becomes a fair subject for criticism," there can certainly be no impropriety in criticising the critic. But we deny the proposition that judicial decisions are the proper subject for criticism in the newspapers of the day, and we believe that it is contrary to good policy and the sound administration of justice as well as fatal to the independence of the bench, to scatter broadcast over the land the assertions that a Judge has excluded competent testimony to the injury of a defendant, and that a jury of twelve impartial men has found an innocent man guilty. Our only hope is in the efficacy of the appeal, and we believe that its only effect will be, in the language of the "Review," "to satisfy his (Mr. Randall's) numerous friends and acquaintances, who almost without an exception believe him innocent, that their belief is well founded."

We do not doubt the ability of the author of the Review to make the friends of Mr. Randall retain a conviction which no human power can eradicate Alas, for the vanity of human joys! Even if the Review should confirm those already convinced, that small triumph will not be unalloyed, as the malicious will be sure to compare it to the mountain which labored and brought forth a mouse, or perhaps they may choose the Johnsonian style and announce "that parturient mountains have ere now produced muscipular abortions." K.

Portland, Feb. 8, 1869.

Judge Strong's Review of Randall's Trial.

It is not my purpose to prosecute Mr. Randall through the newspapers, or to follow Judge Strong through his rambling defence of Mr Randall's attorneys.

The Judge complains of the zeal exhibited upon the part of the prosecution to convict Mr. Randall.

The prosecution have no cause to complain or find fault with Judge Strong on account of any particular amount of zeal exhibited by him in Mr. Randall's defense on the trial, had he made such exhibition before the Court, all the labor of retrying the cause through the newspapers might have been saved to him, and Mr. Randall and his friends would have less [illegible] to find fault with Judge Strong.

OPPOSITION LINE OF STEAMERS.—A private letter from San Francisco says that a strong and well regulated steamship company was formed in that city for the purpose of running a line of steamers regularly between San Francisco and Portland. The steamers are known to be suitable for the Oregon trade and are noted for good speed and splendid passenger accommodation. The people of Oregon will have an opportunity of showing whether they are willing to patronize good and staunch steamers, at a reasonable price for freight and passage, as it will depend on the patronage these steamers will receive whether they will remain in our waters or not.
